Unbelievably, you can control all my favorite LabScope wirelessly! Here you can see some of the applications (trimmers, filters, different types of waveshapers, etc.): Here you can see the wiring of a LabScope... Here I show a live operation with the LabScope. I can turn up the volume and the "velocity" of the vals, send one more position for the notch filter and change the wavehape and filter shape of the notch filter of the first filter line: ...and here you can see the controller: ....and I can send a position to the Subsonic Filter Unit. Check the quickstart tutorial at your will: ...or download the plugin from the manual download page: Feel free to ask me any questions... * I will find an opportunity to integrate this into it's own website... ...but for now this one will do... * THE WIIU LABSCOPE PLUGIN IS NO LONGER SUPPORTED (MAYBE FOR EVER). Today, I used Boris tool to turn my MIDI keyboard into a ARP Odyssey It works fine, but I was thinking about using the synth while using Boris and it did not work at first. I used the MIDI keyboard without using the plugin and it worked fine. I could hear the MIDI keyboard. Maybe the plugin did not work at first because I did not use it or something.
